

EQUALS SEMI-FORMAL (SLD/MLD) CURRICULUM

New from EQUALS

EQUALS is extremely pleased to publish the first five Schemes within its brand new Semi-Formal Curriculum, which has been specifically designed and written for learners of all ages with SLD/MLD. The first five schemes cover My Communication, My Play and Leisure, My Independence, My Thinking and Problem Solving and The World About Me.

During the academic year 2016-17, EQUALS has been busy writing My Creativity. My Creativity covers four separate schemes, which include Art, Drama, Dance and Music. All four are expected to be published during the autumn term 2017.

The general principles governing the schemes of work are that they

- are developmental in nature and open to personalisation - they start at the beginning of the individual pupil's learning journey and aim for the highest level of independence possible
- cover all stages of education from 2 to 25 (and beyond) but are not directly related to either age or key stage. Learners fit into them where they will according to their individual abilities, interests and learning journey
- are not related to the National Curriculum, though the common language of the P scales is occasionally used for ease of understanding.
